

CARRIED THROUGH FLAMES.

TEN SMALL CHILDREN RESCUED FROM A FIRE AT ELIZABETHPORT.

James's Sporting Club House Destroyed—The House Burned With a Mysterious Explosion and Gave the Firemen a Struggle—One Dwelling Burned and Others Threatened—Supposed to be Arson.

(SPECIAL TO THE WORLD.)

ELIZABETHPORT, N. J., May 9.—A fire, supposed to have been started by an incendiary, broke out on Livingston street, Elizabethport, shortly before midnight, and destroyed the large club and sporting house of John J. Lavin and the dwelling of Mrs. Killen adjoining. In the latter building were living James Hendren, John Kellier, James Sullivan, and Elizabeth McGinn.

The families of Hendren and Kellier consisted of ten small children, all of whom were in bed when the fire was discovered. So rapidly did the flames spread that all would probably have perished had it not been for the courage displayed by three young men named O'Neil, Nolan and Collins, who burst into the blazing rooms and carried the half-awakened children out.

The firemen had a hard struggle fighting the flames and several houses in the vicinity caught fire, but were saved.

Hibernia engine broke down, having worked all the night previous at the fire. The engine was taken to the firehouse, which had been closed all day, and in five minutes the building was enveloped in flames.

The club-house was owned by ex-Freedomholder Frank Bauer and cost $6,500; insured for $4,000.

Lavin's loss is $1,000; insured.

The total losses are more than $10,000.

The fire began with a mysterious explosion of some sort in the club-house, which had been closed all day, and in five minutes the building was enveloped in flames.

JERSEY CITY NEWS

The Probability of Henry Ebert's Conviction Growing Stronger.

As the trial of Henry Ebert for wife murder in the Hudson County Circuit Court progresses the probability of his conviction grows stronger. It seems as though no human power can save the man's neck. Ebert shot himself and his wife in their little home on Peterson street, Jersey City, on the night of Sunday, Nov. 27.

The State finished this morning. The witnesses for the defense were then being sworn. The defense will be that all is blank to Ebert since an hour before the shooting, and that his wife used the pistol.

Prosecutor Winslow, in summing up, will claim the murder to have been cold-blooded and premeditated.

An Albany clothing firm has donated the uniforms for the Press and Knickerbocker teams. The Sunday Press says:

Advices from Detroit about that nine in daily practice, and nursing the belief that it will prove formidable. While we are sure that we will surely stop them here, still it would not surprise us if they were similarly done up in other cities, for the Brooklyn and New York boys, the Rochester Post-Express lads, the Buffalo News kids, the Syracuse Herald infants, the Boston Globe bean-throwers, the Pittsburgh Courier midgies, the Philadelphia Quakers, the Baltimore Free Press youngsters and the Cleveland Plaindealer diminutives—they are all snuffing victory in the air.

"THE EVENING WORLD" boys will meet the "Tex Recruits" at the Polo Grounds tomorrow evening. In the afternoon the boys will probably be measured for their uniforms, and next week is liable to see them in front of the camera.
